British Society of Toxicological Pathology » BSTP 39th Annual Scientific Meeting

The BSTP's 39th Annual Scientific Meeting will cover the topic of Developmental Pathology and Toxicology.

This conference will give you direct access to key speakers from the field, up-to-date placental and juvenile pathology, testing strategies, nonclinical solutions for drug development, real-world case histories, risk-benefit analysis approaches, regulatory considerations, and much more. You will be able to forge new collaborations and build on existing partnerships across industry and academia.

The Scientific Organisers have worked to bring experienced researchers from diverse, international backgrounds, as well as key members of the industry to discuss recent advances in this field.

For additional information, please contact the BSTP Event Coordinator at events@hg3.co.uk
